Privacy.

When using our app, we get access to some of your personal information. With this comes a huge responsibility, and we are working hard to keep your information safe, and to give you control over it. We have made some basic rules to help you understand what information we use, how we collect it, and the purpose of it. At the same time, we guarantee you, that at any given time you are free to delete it.

What do we collect, and why?

We collect your information to make our services most appealing to you as a user. In our case, this means that vi analyzes the ingredients you use repeatedly, so that we can customize what coupons and discounts that are best suited for you. Keep in mind that the app allows you to use it in two different modes. One where you can type in your ingredients and get access to the hundreds of recipes. For this mode there is no use for an account, but by register and create an account you get access to coupons and discounts fit for you, tip of the day and the chef's recommendation, in addition to the hundreds of recipes.

Your safety.

Our intentions is that our app is best suited for you. And that is why we analyzes your purchase data, because we want to provide you with our best offers. In that way, the path to a cleaner globe and less waste will be much easier and maybe a lot of fun. Although your data helps us achieve this, it is important for us to emphasize that your personal data is not for sale. They are preserved safely with us. Transparency is important for us, and we will always work to give you control over your own data, and what you choose to share with us.

Your needs.

Whatever your need is there is your own choice as a user to decide. At any given moment or time, you will be able to delete your account and all your data will be deleted form our servers. All the data we have collected from you will be deleted, and we do no longer have access to them.

You as a user.

We threat our users with respect, which means that we protect your information at all cost. And that is why we use the best safety technology, so that the user is always protected from the increasing threats on the world wide web. Do you have any questions? Don't hesitate with sending us an e-mail! (s350143@oslomet.no)

Our license.

You can read all the information about our data security through our privacy license EULA (End – user-license-agreement). This is the privacy license we use for our app. When register and creating an account you get access to this license. You need to accept the terms of use when register, and you can choose to read the whole license, read parts of it, or don't read anything at all. It will be your choice, but if you want to register you need to accept. The license provides you with all the information about us, the data we collect and all our privacy policy that are necessary for you as a user.
